

Fill your basket with freshness today

Albertsons

View our weekly ad >

momslike me .com | where Delmarva moms meet
Change location >

Home Discussions Groups Photos Events Coupons Buy & Sell Contests

Home » Discussions » Education & Development » All Ages » Hilarious way to torture your children this summer!

All Ages

Hilarious way to torture your children this summer!

1734 posts

Posted by GwennA on Jun 22, 2010 at 01:22 PM

Is your child obsessed with computers? Spending all his/her time on the internet, no matter how nice it is outside? Here is a great way to annoy them. Sorry, I mean EDUCATE them. I just got a news release for this program for your computer called getnoodles.com. Here's the idea:

The game, GetNoodles, can be downloaded to the family computer and parents can create accounts for each of their children. When a child is using the computer GetNoodles will ask them to log in at timed intervals that are set by the parent and then it will ask them to answer a trivia question that correlates with their age and grade level.

Kids can earn points for prizes each time they answer a question correctly, but if they provide an incorrect answer another question will appear and they will have to provide a correct answer before they can return to surfing the web, playing another game, etc. Parents can also log in to see their kid's performance levels.

Isn't that great? Maybe if you set it to ask questions every two minutes, it will be so annoying that your kid will want to go outside!

Gwenn Garland, Delmarva.MomsLikeMe admin

Find people, discussions & answers

Already a member?

Log In

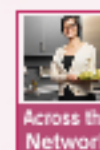

Not yet a member?

Join Us

Log into MomsLikeMe.com using Facebook

Recent activity

Across the Network

Have A Party At The Pool!

by CommunityLeaderKarri (New York City) in Easy Entertaining

Do you have a pool? What kinda of activities do you do when you throw a pool party? More fun things..

Posted on Jul 22 at 2:50 PM

Across the Network

How do you deal with backyard pests?

by CommunityTeamLinda (New York City) in Green Moms!

Raccoons, chipmunks, deer, black flies, and mosquitoes are just a few of the uninvited backyard vi...